Better Highways Mean More Tax for Arkansans

By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—If Arkansans want more and better highways, they'll have to ante up the tax dollars to pay for them.

So said Highway Commission Chairman Lawrence Blackwell as he argued for increases in gasoline taxes and vehicle license fees before a joint Senate House Revenue Committee at an open hearing last night.

Opponents of the tax increases, which would be effected by two Senate bills before the committee, agreed with Blackwell on one point. They like the progress the Highway Department has made in the last six years and would like to see it continue.

But half a dozen speakers represented their organizations as unalterably opposed to the one cent per gallon gasoline tax increase.

Nobody rose to speak against the proposed hike in license fees which would tack an extra $4 on private cars and from $3 to $200 on trucks.

"The people of Arkansas have an unpleasant choice," said Blackwell. "They must endure the burdens of additional taxation or accept deceleration of the highway program."

Blackwell said the department could not maintain its present pace with current revenues, much less match millions of dollars in federal money allocated to the interstate highway system.

"People look on the interstate roads as a bonanza because we get $9 of federal money for each $1 we put up in state funds," Blackwell said. "But actually the interstate program is a new system imposed on inadequate revenues."

Blackwell said the commission would not be disgruntled if the tax measures fail, but "the people are likely to be when they don't get the roads they want."

The two tax boosts would bring an estimated 7½ million dollars annually into Highway Department coffers.

Cost of U. S. Space Program to Really Soar

By JOE F. KANE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Costs of the nation's future civilian space programs will orbit at sky-high levels of billions of dollars, experts say.

A few of the price tags: Booster program for rocket motors—more than two billion dollars.

Manned space-flight program—200 million dollars.

Efforts to build a 1½ million-pound thrust engine of a single chamber—200 million dollars.

The costs were listed Thursday by National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials appearing before a Senate space subcommittee.

NASA and its companion military agency in the Pentagon, the Advanced Research Projects Agency, are spending 450,000 million dollars this year and will need 800 million or more next year, testimony showed.

And Dr. T. Keith Glennan, NASA director, said: "I don't be surprised if NASA alone costs a billion or more a year after two years."

Space program costs this year and next will be propelled by the planned launching of 30 satellites and some 140 probing rockets, Glennan said.

On the plus side of the space ledger, Glennan said experts estimate the value of advances in meteorology and communications stemming from the satellite program will be in the billions of dollars.

Orange Coloring Okayed by ICC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Interstate Commerce Committee today agreed it's safe to color oranges with the coal-tar dye known as citric red No. 2.

The committee approved a bill amending the Food and Drug Act so as to permit the dye's use.

The practice of artificially coloring Texas and Florida oranges—which may be greenish in color even when fully ripe—has prevailed for many years.

A dye known as red No. 32 formerly had wide usage, but the FDA decided it could be dangerous.

Agreement on Cyprus Brings Demonstration

By ALEX EFTY
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Turkish Cypriot school children demonstrated noisily today against the agreement to bring independence to Cyprus. British troops were called out to prevent disorders.

Greek Cypriot students in the port of Paphos paraded in celebration of the successful conclusion of the London conference.

There were a few celebrations in other towns but Cypriots generally assumed a cautious wait-and-see attitude.

The student demonstrators were dispersed without incident. Soldiers patrolled the border between the Greek and Turkish sectors of the capital.

During the demonstration, Turkish children chanted "Death to Makarios." Greek Cypriot leader and Archbishop and "partition or death."

The exiled Archbishop is expected to become the republic's first president when independence arrives in about a year.

Makarios has announced he plans to return to Cyprus in a few days. He came here from Athens for the London conference. He was confined to his hotel suite with a chill today.

Cost of Living Edges Close to the Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Higher food prices—reversing five months of decline—sent the government's measure of living costs up one-tenth of one per cent in January.

At the same time, average take-home earnings of factory workers reached a record for any January.

The new monthly high was the first since 1957 when the business recession set in.

The Labor Department, reporting today the rise in its living cost index, noted it was still slightly below the November, 1958, record high.

The index stood at 123.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This was one-tenth of one per cent below the all-time peak.

Lowell Glueck, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the nine months since April 1958, have been the longest period of comparative price stability since the index was established on its present basis in 1940.

Highway construction and maintenance funds, roughly equivalent to 3 1/2 cents of Arkansas' present tax, which actually goes for roads. County and city turnbacks, debt service and other factors take deep bites from Arkansas' road revenue. Frank M. Potter, secretary-manager of the Arkansas Automobile Assn., said the high tax would cause tourists to avoid Arkansas.

Blackwell's rebuttal was that the price of regular gasoline differed from 24.8 to 34 cents at various service stations over the state. "We wouldn't have price differences like that if people really shopped for gas," he said. Blackwell added that the price of major company regular gas varied as much as five cents per gallon in his home town of Pine Bluff.

Bill Gregg of Harrison, president of the Arkansas Independent Oil Marketers Assn., stated that taxes accounted for 46 per cent of the dealer's cost for gas. "Gasoline is the tired and over-

UA, Other Probes by the House

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Without debate, the Arkansas House today passed a controversially-labeled resolution calling for an investigation of "rumors and reports" concerning state educational institutions.

The vote was 77 to 3 on White Rep. J. H. Moody's measure to create a seven-man investigating committee. The committee is required to complete its probe and report to the House within 14 days.

Moody introduced the resolution as a substitute for an earlier measure which would have required John Tyler Caldwell, president of the University of Arkansas, to appear before the lower chamber and answer certain allegations about the university.

The new resolution apparently is aimed at the university, although it is not mentioned by name.

Moody's previous resolution asked a number of questions about internal activities of university professors, race-mixing in dormitories and personnel policies.

The House gave unanimous approval to a Senate bill changing the formula allocation of highway funds.

In the past, highway funds have been allocated quarterly and the highway department has faced an annual shortage in the quarter during which bond interest and principal payments became due.

The new formula allocates funds on a monthly basis.

Under the measure, the Highway Department also would receive one million dollars now lying idle in an unclaimed gasoline tax refund which was to be distributed to non-highway users.

Bill Up to Refund L. R. School Dist.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bill to refund approximately $300,000 in state school aid to the Little Rock District was introduced in the Arkansas House today.

The money is part of that withheld from the district after Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the four Little Rock public high schools against integration last September.

Some of the withheld funds is being used to finance education of displaced pupils in other schools, but about $300,000 is expected to be unclaimed at end of the current school year.

Little Rock School Supt. Terrell E. Powell said last night that the state had withheld $538,900 from the bill.

The Little Rock District. This includes not only money that would have gone to the high school but also funds for elementary and junior high schools, he said.

Powell in a speech to a Parent-Teachers Assn. said that the district was beginning to feel the financial pinch. It was the first time a school spokesman had made such an admission publicly. Powell said present indications are that the district will be about $100,000 short when its Maybill is due. He said the deficit probably could be made up from June tax income. The regular school term ends late in May.

The state aid has been withheld under authority of Act 5 of the 1948 special legislative session. This measure is a companion one to Act 4 of the special session under which Faubus closed the high schools.

The House refund bill was submitted by Pulaski Rep. T. E. Tyler. Tyler said Faubus had approved the bill.

can become law, would create a logjam in the closing days of the 60 day session. Crank told Bethell plenty of time remained since budget bills had been introduced earlier this session than at any time before.

Then the House, settling back to normalcy quickly passed 28 "non-controversial" bills which had been made a special order of business for the day.

While all this wrangling occupied the representatives, the Senate passed, 24-9, a bill setting up a system of state aid roads in counties. Introduced by Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton, the bill would put about 10,000 miles of county roads under the system for construction, repairs and maintenance. These would include main collector and distributor roads connecting to state highways or trade areas.

Harvey's formula calls for half of all federal aid funds for secondary roads to be set aside by the state Highway Commission for county secondary roads and those in the proposed new state aid system. Harvey conceded that funds to finance the system probably could not be provided at this session, but the law would be working when funds did become available.

The Senate rejected a bill which, in effect, would have set minimum prices for haircuts and also rejected a bill requiring labor unions doing business in Arkansas to have state charters. Then it passed two bills requiring fund-raising organizations to register with the secretary of state and making fund-raisers subject to an annual fee of $50. The latter bill also would require such persons to post surety bond with the secretary of state.

Sens. Guy Jones of Conway and Ellis Fagan of Little Rock argued briefly over a bill which would have prohibited cities from charging a fee for towing away illegally parked cars and a fee for storage of such vehicles. The bill, obviously aimed at police practices in Little Rock, failed on a roll call, 10-18. Eighteen votes were needed for passage.

The only other controversial note of the day came in the House when Rep. J. H. Moody of White County offered a resolution to have a seven-member committee look into certain conditions at the state's institutions of higher education. All members considered this a substitute for Moody's earlier unsuccessful attempt to have Dr. John T. Caldwell, president of the University of Arkansas, called before the House for questioning about operations and policies of the school.

Moody moved for immediate adoption of his new resolution. But the House said no, and the proposal was sent to a committee.

School Bomb Scare at Morrilton

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—An anonymous male caller telephoned the Morrilton High School office today that a bomb had been planted in a Morrilton school.

All schools were shut down for remainder of the day while school officials and police started a search.

Nothing had been found several hours later.

Morrilton schools are not racially integrated.

worked mule pulling the overloaded wagon of taxation," Gregg said. "It's time we looked elsewhere to put the load."

Blackwell came right back with a charge that the wholesale price of regular gasoline, exclusive of taxes, has increased from 75 cents per gallon in 1945 to 16.9 cents per gallon in 1957.

"And Arkansas gasoline tax has been 6 1/2 cents since 1934," he said. "This should squelch any argument that a tax increase would tax dealers out of business."

Blackwell said Arkansas had less money to spend per mile of roads than any adjoining state and carried 4 1/2 times the bonded indebtedness.

"Sometimes we have to be pushed into progress," he said. The committee took no immediate action on the bills.

At one end of the table, the five tier white wedding cake trimmed in wedding bells and roses, topped with the traditional bride and groom.

Yellow Dutch iris and ocatia with yellow candles decorated the buffet. Flowers were at vantage points throughout the house.

Harris Probing Group Revived

WASHINGTON (AP) — The special House subcommittee that investigated the Sherman Adams-Bernard Goldberg and other cases involving federal agencies was revived today.

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) said he will ask the House for $200,000 for further investigations. The subcommittee in its report recommended more than 30 fields in which further inquiries might be made.

The investigating group is a subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee, headed by Harris. It was recreated by appointment from Harris.

Switzerland Hit by Avalanches

HERBRIGGEN, Switzerland (AP) — There was a slight lull in temperature on the Nadelhorn Mountain today but climbers reported no sight or sound of movement in the frozen rock slide poised high above this Alpine village.

The bright sun warmed the air to 50 degrees. It was feared any further rise might again set at least some of the vast mass of rock moving toward the 3,200-foot precipice above the village.

"Therefore, we say: be sensible! Understand our position. We do not want any acquisitions, either political or material. Let us endorse that which has happened as a result of the second World War and which has been recognized by the whole world. It is not to the liking of imperialists that after World War II socialism (communism) took root in Poland, the GDR (the East German Communist state), Czechoslovakia and other countries. Yet there is no escape from these facts."

Authorities have been analyzing the Tula speech here and in other Western capitals for clues to Khrushchev's immediate and long-range objectives in his campaign against continued Western occupation of West Berlin. They expect much better information on his purposes after his talks this week with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Khrushchev's Tula speech was regarded by experts in the State Department as looking a very tough line. He specifically warned the Western powers that if they

DOROTHY DIX

Handy Andy's Zeal Lacks Wife-Appeal

Dear Dorothy Dix: What can be done about a husband who is too good natured? People are always taking advantage of him. He's very adaptable and our friends call him any time of the day or night to fix a television, push a piano, dig jewelry out of the plumbing or get a child out of a tree. It's getting on my nerves and I'm beginning to hate our friends because they monopolize all his time. We're having terrible arguments about it. What can I do to get him out of this ugly habit? You should be proud and pleased with him. Would you prefer a sourpuss who couldn't change his mind — much less a waster? You have a gem of a husband, girl. Appreciate him — or someone else will.

Dear Dorothy Dix: When my girl friend and I go skating or walking, we are usually joined by her boy friend. I feel like a spare wheel. She wants me to stay and I know he wants me to leave — Tessie the Third.

Dear Tess: If your girl friend wants you to go someplace, tell her you'll go provided she understands that you are to remain a twosome, not a trio. If the boy wants to skate with her, let him make a date, not trust to a "by chance" meeting. I think you are being "used." Don't be so accommodating.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a girl of 16 with two boy friends. The one I like most is inconsiderate, not dependable, and has stood me up many times. The other one is dependable, thoughtful, courteous. Should I give up the one I like and try to like the other? — Debbie.

Dear Debbie: That would certainly be the advisable course

Denver Cagers Darkhorses of NCAA Tourney

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The University of Denver usually is associated with the best in college hockey and skiing. Now the Pioneers may come up with a championship basketball team and get into the NCAA tourney for the first time to help celebrate the state of Colorado centennial. The Pioneers defeated a howling crowd of 2,800 Thursday night at the Denver fieldhouse as they snapped Utah's 11-game winning streak 67-62 and moved within half a game of the first place Utes in the Skyline Conference. Denver now has a conference record of 8-2 compared to Utah's 8-1. The Pioneers have four conference games left and Utah five.

The game highlighted a slim national program.

NYU beat Villanova 78-69 and St. Johns (NY) defeated Niagara 87-78 in a doubleheader before 10,125 at New York's Madison Square Garden. Butler, which bant Notre Dame Monday in three overtimes, had its seven-game winning streak snapped by Indiana State 98-87 in two overtimes. Belmont Abbey's 18-game winning streak went by the boards at the hands of Presbyterian 56-53. Wheaton chalked up its 53th straight in the College Conference of Illinois by drubbing Elmhurst 81-54. In other games Massachusetts scored its second upset of the week, a 68-65 victory over Boston College, and Montana walked New Mexico 84-59 in a Skyline Conference fray.

Jim Peay, a 6-2 junior from Rye, N.Y., sparked Denver to its must win over Utah. He scored 30 points on 12 field goals and six free throws and snared 15 rebounds.

NYU's hopes for a bid to the NIT soured after the Violets drubbed Villanova, already picked for the tourney. Tom Sander was high with 28 points and Cal Ramsey collected 13 to become the highest scorer in NYU history with 1,105 points. St. Johns, led by Al Seiden, with 31 points, and Tony Jackson, with 27, piled up a 70-56 lead before Niagara made a futile rally.

Indiana State beat Butler on a free throw by Warren Ross that broke an 87-87 tie. The regulation game ended 74-74 and the first overtime 80-80. It was good foul shooting, too, that gave Massachusetts its victory over Boston College. Court "Felix" flipped in three charity tosses in the final minute. Jack Sullivan's free throw with three seconds left to play gave the Quantic Marines a 51-49 overtime victory over Providence.

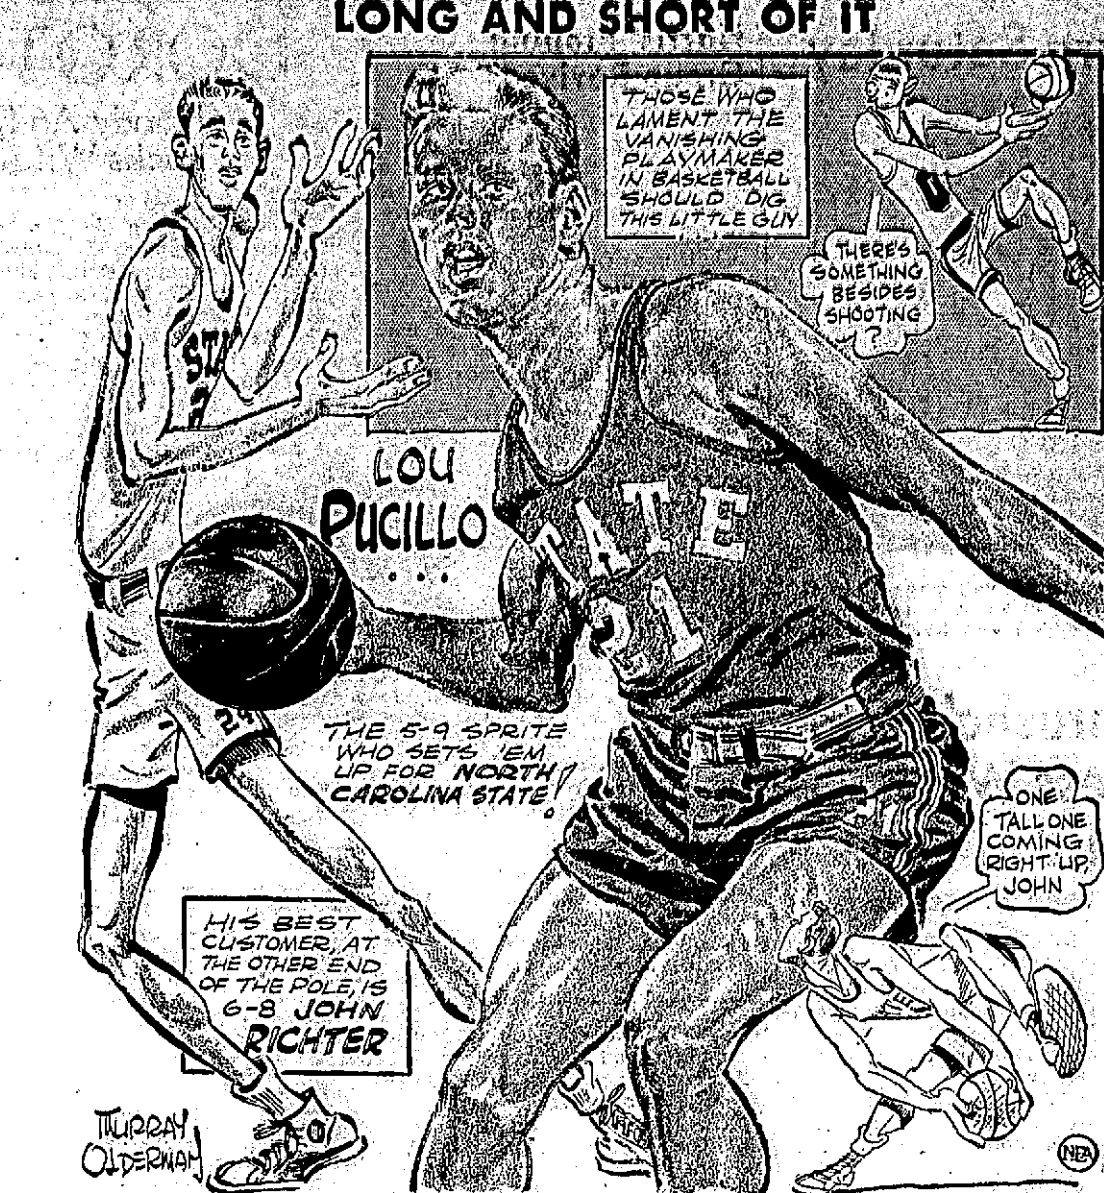

Russia Cool to Western Proposals

By DENNIS NEED

LONDON (AP)—The Soviets today gave a chilly reception to Western proposals for a Big Four foreign ministers conference on Germany but still left the door open to direct negotiations.

An English-language commentator on Moscow radio said the Western notes handed the Kremlin Monday, "do not contain a single more or less constructive suggestion capable of facilitating settlement of questions either of Berlin or of Germany. It all boils down to the same invariable 'no' the West has been giving us all the time," the broadcaster said.

The belief grew in the West that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev would press for Big Four summit talks—rather than a foreign ministers meeting—when he receives British Prime Minister

Detroit Tiger Trades Liked by Manager

(16th and last of a series under the managers' own bylines, sizing up their teams' pennant chances for 1959)

By BILL NORMAN
Detroit Tigers

AFETON, Mo. (AP)—The trades we've made this winter have improved the Detroit club. The addition of Ray Narleski and Don Mossi gives us a good bullpen. Eddie Yost and Rocky Bridges, whom we acquired from Washington, should make us better defensively at third and short. Lou Berberet, whom we got from Boston, can help the catching staff.

The weaknesses of our club last year were as follows:

1. Lack of power. 2. Not enough pitching depth. 3. A defensive

Harold Macmillan this weekend. With U.S. Secretary of State Dulles ailing, the suave, British premier appeared emerging as the coordinator of Allied policy in dealing with the Soviets. He told the House of Commons Thursday night that after his talks with the Soviet leaders, he would visit Bonn and Paris and "perhaps Washington with a view to formation of the Western allied policy."

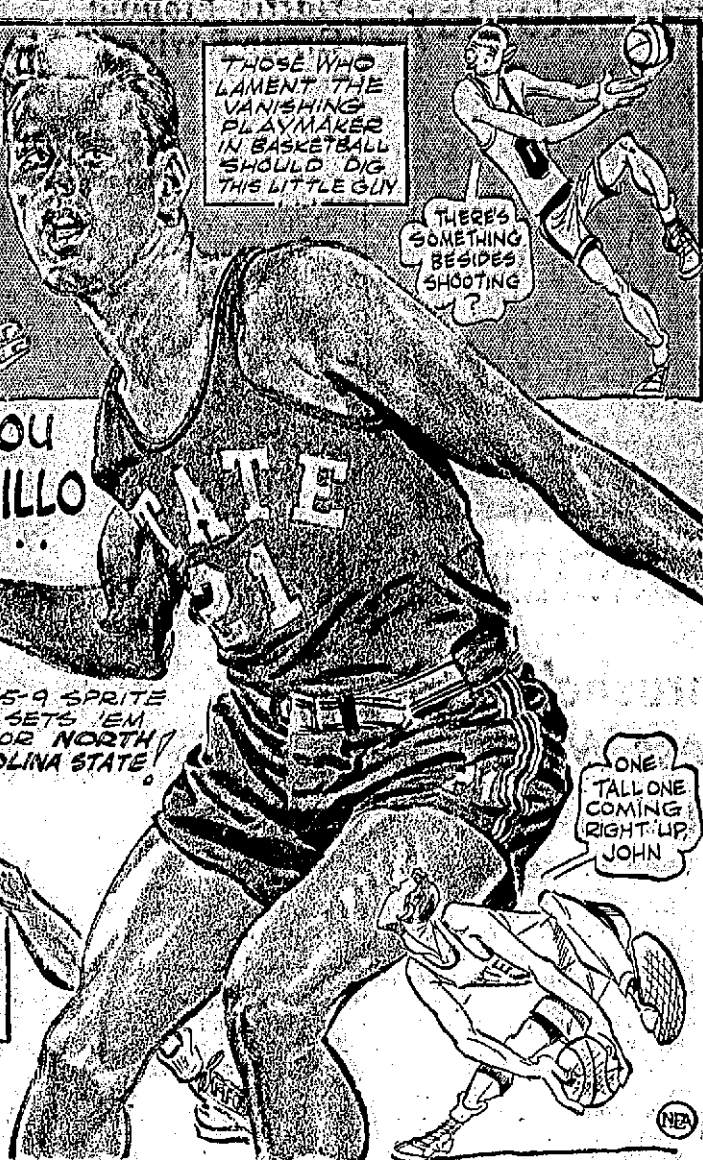

Macmillan leaves for Moscow Saturday to spend 10 days sounding out Soviet leaders on possible grounds for a compromise in the cold war. He is especially anxious to find out what Western concessions the Kremlin is really angling for—without making any commitments on behalf of the Allies.

"We must be firm but flexible," he told Commons.

Macmillan emphasized that any proposal by Khrushchev for dismantling of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was out of the question.

"Nothing must be done which would result in the withdrawal of American and Canadian forces from the continent of Europe," he said. "Within that, nothing ought to be excluded."

LONG AND SHORT OF IT

To Shoot Animals With Drug Darts

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Game wardens are planning to shoot wild animals with drug darts to rescue them from the rising waters of Lake Kariba.

Covering 2,000 square miles, the lake will be the world's largest artificial body of water when a Zambesi River project is completed. Lions, leopards, antelope, buffalo and other animals are taking refuge on islands being formed as the water spreads.

Lands Minister A.R.W. Stumblers explained that the darts would be tipped with tranquilizing drugs and the doped animals ferried to safety.

Weakness on the left side of the infield.

We felt in order to correct these weaknesses, we had to make some trades.

We still need a power hitter, a stronger bench and we could use more catching help. I think our pitching staff will be our strongest point.

In Frank Lary, Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack and Billy Hoelt, we have what could be potentially the best front-line staff in the league. With Narleski and Mossi taking over the bullpen, we have eliminated our biggest weakness.

Our infield should be much stronger. Gail Haris surprised everybody with his fine hitting and play around first base. Frank Bolling, in my opinion, is the best second baseman in the league.

I'm satisfied with our outfield. Al Kaline in right, Harvey Kuenn in center, and Charlie Maxwell in left, give us three solid regulars.

We have a batch of fine rookies but I wouldn't like to mention any for fear of omitting one or two. They'll all get a thorough trial but after finishing fifth last season, the first aim is to get in the first division.

The teams to beat are the four who finished ahead of us. Although we had good luck against New York, Chicago and Boston last year, we were poor against Cleveland and since the Indians finished fourth they are the first team for us to try to overtake.

Convicted on Tax Charge Beck Is Jailed

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Convicted of cheating on his income tax, millionaire labor leader Dave Beck Sr., 64, spent time behind bars for the first time in his life Thursday night.

The former president of the huge Teamsters Union was found guilty on all four counts of income tax evasion—covering $240,067 for the years 1950-1953 — and two counts of filing false returns. He could receive up to a five-year sentence and a $10,000 fine on each count.

U.S. Dist. Judge George Boldt, who set sentencing for Feb. 27, was to hold an appeal bond hearing in Seattle today.

Beck's lawyers said the verdict would be appealed "all the way."

The one-time laundry truck driver, who prided himself on not smoking or drinking, appeared more shaken at having to spend the night in jail than by the verdict.

The portly Beck, nattily clad in a blue suit and polka-dot tie, gripped the edge of a table but showed little emotion as the clerk drew "guilty" six times Thursday afternoon. Later he was heard to remark to a friend he just couldn't understand why he had to remain in jail.

When found guilty, his $25,000 bail was revoked.

His quarters in the federal section of the city jail were a world apart from his lavish home in the so-called "Beck Compound" on the shores of Lake Washington in Seattle.

Just three years ago he was a respected millionaire businessman, international president of the Teamsters Union—considered the largest in the country—and a vice president of the AFL-CIO.

Today he is under the shadow of two convictions. Beck was sentenced to not more than 15 years in prison after a 1957 conviction for grand larceny in the embezzlement of $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac. The State Supreme Court is scheduled to hear his appeal next March.

Beck's big trouble began when he appeared before the Senate Labor-Management Committee in 1957 and invoked the Fifth Amendment more than 150 times. He said then he could probably clear everything up with a few minutes in the court of law.

Gambling Is Revived in Havana, Cuba

By TED EDIGER

HAVANA (AP)—The click of roulette wheels and the rattle of dice came back to Havana today like a sweet melody — for foreign tourists and well-to-do Cubans.

Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime added a little glitter to its reform program by taking the padlocks off the doors of the plush gambling casinos. But, poorer Cubans were still barred from the bedside during the night. Marshall, who served as Army chief of staff during World War II, and later was secretary of state and secretary of defense, suffered a mild stroke Jan. 15 at his winter home in nearby Pinehurst and has been hospitalized here since.

Wednesday night, the medical report on Marshall said if the stroke stabilizes, chances of recovery are good.

Insurance Firms to Pay More Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has voted to raise the taxes to be paid by life insurance companies.

If the measure eventually becomes law, it would mean an estimated tax increase of 220 million dollars on 1958 earnings of insurance companies.

The bill passed Wednesday and sent to the Senate without a record vote.

The "Populist" Casinos, where small sums were bet, will stay closed.

The multimillion-dollar industry that enriched fallen dictator Fulgencio Batista and many American racketeers resumed in 11 Havana casinos. The revolutionary regime promised strict government control.

Under Batista the casinos paid a $25,000 licensing fee and a percentage of their profit to the government. The casino operators of 1958 paid out additional sums of $100,000 or more in bribes and graft.

Premier Castro laid down a new set of rules designed to root out the racketeers and enrich the nation's treasury.

The National Institute of Savings and Housing will regulate the casinos.

The new division of profits has not been announced, but the government has been considering allocating 70 per cent — allocating 40 per cent for welfare and 30 per cent to promote tourism. Play in the old days often ran between one and two million dollars a night.

The reopening casinos must have new operators with financial standing and no criminal records. The operators also must pay the casino employees their wages for the seven weeks they have been idle.

Foreigners must declare their winnings at the Cuban National Bank. They will pay a 2 per cent tax for a permit to take their winnings out of Cuba.

Finds Writing and Ecstasy and Anquish

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I find writing is an ecstasy and an anguish. I'm miserable when I'm doing it, but I can't wait to begin again."

This helps explain why Fannie Hurst keeps turning out books after a distinguished career that has spanned four decades. Her autobiography has just been released. On the train to California, she put the finishing touches on the latest of her many novels.

"After I complete each book I tell myself it will be the last," she said. "But I know it isn't. Every real writer has a compulsion to write that transcends everything."

Even money, she added. Many writers have come to Hollywood and made so much money that it proved foolish tax-wise for them to write books. Such would never happen to Miss Hurst.

"I came out here in the '30s to adapt 'Lumoux,'" she recalled. "It quickly discovered that this was not the life for me and I went back home."

Home is New York City, though she is St. Louis born. She went to Columbia University for a master's degree and became enamored with the big city. "I guess I've become chauvinistic or insular," she admitted, "but I at most recent the time I'm away from New York."

So what is she doing here? She agreed to journey westward for the "hopia" surrounding the preview of the new version of "Imitation of Life." Rare among authors, she liked the job that Universal International did with her story.

Miss Hurst's acquaintance with her novels has not always been pleasant. Among the film versions have been "Four Daugh-

Businessmen Are America's Best Dressed

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—America's best-dressed men today aren't its movie stars or television idols—but its business executives.

The tired business man got this surprise part on his well-attired back from Pat Caruso, a tailor.

"The business executive today is highly style-aware," said Caruso. "Years ago he would wear anything. Now he knows exactly what he wants. Some even draw sketches of the styles they prefer."

Professional athletes also are more clothes-conscious, and the best-dressed among them are the jockeys, who also rate as the wealthiest of athletes. The reason: Most jockeys have to wear custom garments or buy children's wear.

"But very few people in public life dress well," said Caruso. He added: "What can you do with a politician?"

However, President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon are exceptions.

"What about Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?"

A look of sorrow crossed Caruso's face but he maintained a discreet silence. It is an open secret among custom tailors that New York's multimillionaire chief executive patronizes a store, featuring ready-made clothing.

The custom industry now suffers more from a shortage of fine tailors than customers, Caruso says.

"It takes 10 to 15 years to become a good tailor," said Caruso. "I first picked up the needle at the age of 9 in my father's shop in Italy. In this country nobody wants to work that young. You can't go to college and then start to be a tailor."

"We have to import our tailors."

"Here are a few other observations he made:

"In Europe they laugh at the Ivy League look. They say it looks like it was sprayed on."

"A man can be well-dressed with a wardrobe of a dozen suits. But he has to buy three or four a year to keep it up."

"The things a man needs most to look well in clothes are a good tailor and a flat belly."

"The British used to be the world's best-dressed men. But most Englishmen today aren't well-dressed. They have fine fabrics but not enough good tailors."

"The best-dressed men in the world now are probably wealthy South Americans. They are the male peacocks today."

"Most doctors don't dress well. Their cars look better than their clothes."

ters" and its sequels, "Back Street" and "Humoresques," both filmed three times.

"One night I was watching television and turned on a scale after it had started," she said. "I watched the thing for 30 minutes before I finally realized it was 'Humoresque' (the Joan Crawford-John Garfield version). When the pretty young girl walked into the Atlantic Ocean in the final reel I realized there was nothing left of my whole story except a boy who played a violin."

Corporation Earnings Dip in U. S.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A drop in earnings in 1958 is being reported today by two out of three American corporations. But in the majority of cases the decline was reversed or trimmed substantially in the final months of the year.

The current first quarter of 1959 seems sure to stack up notable gains as compared to a year ago, when the recessions on slough on profits was at its worst.

So far 770 corporations have reported on net income after taxes in 1958. Combined, their earnings are 14.4 per cent lower than in 1957.

Declines are shown by 430. There are 30 reporting a net loss in 1958, against 23 in 1957.

Combined the 770 report profits of $9,174,278,000, compared with 10,730,080,000 made by the same companies in 1957.

This is only a sampling of all corporate profits. When final figures are in a couple months hereby total U. S. corporate profits are predicted to be around $8 billion dollars.

It was an up and down year for profits. In the first three months of 1958 they were running at an annual rate of less than 32 billion dollars. In the final three months of the year the pace had quickened to an estimated 45 billion annual rate.

Profits are expected to rise still further as 1959 progresses. The swift recovery of profits since the recession is expected to play a major role in labor negotiations in coming months, as union leaders seek a larger share of gross earnings for their members.

The millions who own corporate stock will watch the profit trend closely too. Cash dividends paid out in 1958 came to about 12 billion dollars, a larger share of million dollars from the record set in 1957. Reviving profits can reverse that trend.

Sharpest slides in profits in 1958 are reported by these industries: rail equipment, autos and suppliers, machinery and tools, steel and iron, coal, aircraft and suppliers, mining and metal working, and oil and its suppliers.

Best increases over 1957 are reported by: airlines, office equipment, farm equipment, communications, utilities and tobacco companies. As a group manufacturers

Declares Ike Is a Real Conservative

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — How conservative is President Eisenhower? Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday that Eisenhower is more conservative than the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Eisenhower himself was asked last December whether he had grown more conservative since the November elections. He replied then that "so far as philosophy is concerned, I think I have never had one single change."

Somewhat earlier, on May 15, 1957, Eisenhower was asked at another news conference about reports that he had grown less conservative since his election in 1952. His reply then: "Far from it. If anything, I think I have grown more conservative."

Eisenhower several times, in discussing his views, has coupled the word "liberal" with "conservative" to describe himself.

On Feb. 5, 1954, for instance, Eisenhower told a Republican gathering in Washington that his administration would be "liberal and human" toward people and "conservative with the people's money."

Nixon extended the description in Los Angeles this week.

"President Eisenhower is regarded as a liberal because of his international views on foreign policy," Nixon said, "but on domestic issues he is more conservative than the late Sen. Taft."

Taft himself acknowledged during the 1952 campaign — while he and Eisenhower were contesting for the Republican presidential nomination — that he and the general were more eye-to-eye on domestic than on foreign problems.

That year Eisenhower opened his bid for the presidency with a talk at Abilene, Kan. A re-reading of that speech now shows that even then — at least domestically — there was very little difference between the views of Taft and Eisenhower.

But it was a time of bitter division within the Republican party, which was split into Taft and Eisenhower camps. Some Republicans called the speech "terrific" but others dismissed it as a "collection of generalities" and one laced at it with the statement he was glad to see Eisenhower was for "mother, home and heaven."

On June 19, 1952, in a nationally televised broadcast, Taft criticized the general on both foreign and domestic policies. He even suggested Eisenhower was a New Dealer, for he said he did not believe "the New Deal wing of the Republican party" could win.

Nevertheless, Taft acknowledged that Eisenhower "has gradually come around almost to the position which I have occupied" on some domestic questions.

Still, Taft, after losing the nomination to Eisenhower, wouldn't support him until they met at breakfast in New York Sept. 12, 1952, and the senator got Eisenhower's agreement to a set of principles drawn up by Taft.

After that Taft said he could support the general with "no qualifications."

Among other things they had a joint goal of resistance to what they called centralized government and a joint goal of reducing the national budget. Eisenhower did manage to cut the budget, but it was a goal which eventually had to be abandoned.

This year Eisenhower offered Congress the biggest peacetime budget in history but is calling now on Congress to balance the budget by spending no more than he asked.

Both Taft and Eisenhower made a strong pitch against inflation. Anti-inflationism is Eisenhower's No. 1 theme this year.

XXV
Only three men were in the Golden Horn. Duke Royale stood behind the bar, and across from him, idly with a whiskey glass, was Meade Bastian.
Then there was Ollie Ladd. To full of plain brute endurance to show the effects of the night as Bastian did, Ollie paced up and down the length of the barroom, growling like a caged animal, dark with frustration.
The twin doors of the saloon swung and Sheriff Klint Hyatt stepped through. Gil Yeager was with him. For a moment they stood, their glances raking the room swiftly.
Bastian pushed away from the bar and slowly wheeled to the full face of Yeager and Hyatt. Duke Royale remained motionless, without expression, his ink eyes unrevealing of thought or emotion.
Ollie Ladd ceased his pacing, but was to full of explosive feeling to remain completely still. He began a weaving motion from side to side, rocking from one foot to the other in a ponderous tramping.
Now, through the hiatus of sus-murder. Ollie. And I'm arresting you for it. I'll take your gun."

Ponderous of mind and thought as well as of body, Ollie Ladd had a little time to accept the full meaning of Klint Hyatt's words, and to react to them.
When he did, finally, it was with the berserk animal. Like fury, he had been seething in him and which now burst, blindly forth. He mumbled something which was unintelligible, and when he reached for his gun it was frighteningly apparent it was not for the purpose of surrendering the weapon to Hyatt.

Klint Hyatt's cry was sharp with bitter warning. He might as well have yelled at a great wind, and realizing it, Hyatt crouched and drew his gun.
The very physical bulk of Ollie Ladd which made the massive power in him so imposing, also slowed him in movement to some degree. So, even though he started for his weapon ahead of Klint Hyatt, when the room shuddered before the first crashing report, it was Hyatt who had got away the shot.
Ollie grunted under a bullet's impact, which, huge as he was, spun him half around and left him staggering while the slug he'd intended for Hyatt, fired now purely by muscular reaction, dug a splintering way into the bar front, not a yard to one side of Meade Bastian. And this set Bastian off.

At the moment, Hyatt was motionless, a tank, stooped figure, his glance and full attention on Ollie Ladd, the strong shadow of sadness and regret in his eyes and across his face. And Duke Royale had him dead to rights.
Never afterward was Gil Yeager able to clearly recall the sequence. He knew only that he saw and recognized Duke Royale's intent. Then, somehow, his own gun was clear of the holster, was stabbing level and bucking in recoil.
He saw invisible force strike Royale and drive him to one side, saw a strange, fluid shrinkage overcome all the force and fire in the man. And then Duke Royale was slipping from sight behind the bar, while the gun he held still unfired, thumped heavily on the floor.

They were back in Klint Hyatt's office. As thoroughly drained and beaten out physically and emotionally as he had ever been in his life, Gil Yeager slouched deep in a chair. Behind the desk Klint Hyatt sat, hunched of shoulder, dry and still of feature, a man seemingly far removed from the rank, wolf-like instrument of death he'd been in the Golden Horn but a few hours before. Like Yeager, he also was burdened with a great weariness.
Following the shoot-out in the Golden Horn, a tumult of excitement had held the town. Men had crowded the saloon with their questions and their wonder. Johnnie Hock had been there, and Patch Kelly and Bill Spelle, and all others close to the scene. Finally there had been Judge Carmody, stern and demanding, and to him Klint Hyatt had given the story, simply, starkly and in blunt detail. And when he had done, Judge Carmody left without a charge of recrimination, merely shaking his head in regret over the misguided ways of some men, and of the bitter final results these ways could bring.
So now it was done, and Gil Yeager sat with his weariness and his thoughts, and it seemed there was no great purpose left in life for him.

Finally stirring, Klint Hyatt scuffed through a drawer in his desk and came up with a star. He tossed this to Yeager.
"That's the one I took off Ollie Ladd. When you head home, swing over by the lake and throw this star into it. I owe Ollie that much — to see that the badge he wore will never be worn by another man. Which, I suppose, makes you think me a hypocritical fool."
Pocketing the star, Yeager shook his head slowly.
"Not at all. While a man's alive, you see and know the worst in him. Afterwards, well — you remember the times you knew him in the better light."
"That's it, Klint Hyatt said. "There was a lot of brute animal in Ollie Ladd, but I can recall times when a spell of good nature showed in him and then he was like any amiable, harmless bear. At such times I was close to being fond of him." Spurred by these thoughts, Hyatt's voice rang with a quick, harsh bitterness, given him, well out into the star any layman wears — some times it can become the cruelest taskmaster ever designed."

Gil Yeager rode home through sundown's rich, softening glow. At the Rubicon Creek crossing he reined over to the lake edge and when he rode in to Lazy V, he splash and set a few small ripples stirring.
From a nearby tule clump a mallard called. A white crane was an ivory statue at the edge of a shallows, and against the sunset sky a cloud of blackbirds wheeled and swung in last flight before seeking roost against the approach of night.
Out of this vista of earth and sky and water, with its space and its color and its great primary stillness, there came a sudden sense of peace which startled Yeager, and miraculously relaxed him.
He sat in his saddle, marveling that this could be.
When he rode in to Lazy V, Cam Reeves was there, waiting in the dusk.
"Was beginning to think you wouldn't show up," Cam said gruffly. "You're to come along to Long-B with me."
"No need of that," Yeager said carefully. "I can't."
"Plenty of need, Cam cut in.

News Briefs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A jury awarded Mrs. Lillian Packer $22,200 after deciding her husband's refusal to be a doctor between doctors in an elevator with a fire in the shaft.
She testified she experienced caused her to have frequent dreams of being stuck in an elevator with a fire in the shaft. The judgment was against the owners of the apartment building.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Animals can observe the unusual antics of people again today at the St. Louis Zoo.
For three days visitors had been kept out by a strike of 85 zoo employees. The 1,600 animals were unhappy about it. They acted bored and listless.

The strike was settled Wednesday when 200 management recognized Local 410 of the Institutional and Public Employees Union as bargaining agent for the employees.

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Paul Carl Sandburg says he thinks if Abraham Lincoln were alive today, he wouldn't be a member of either major political party.
"In fact, he would likely favor a new party. There is so little difference between the present two," Sandburg said. The famed biographer of Lincoln was here for a series of lectures.

BRIGHTON, Colo. (AP)—Mrs. Elsie Natch happened to be talking on the telephone in her husband's liquor store Wednesday when two bandits walked in.

Without blinking an eye, she started speaking German, describing the holdup in progress.

Mrs. Herbert Natch, her daughter-in-law on the other end of the line, called the police.

JOSE HERNANDEZ, 20, and Nash Hernandez, 18, were arrested later by Sheriff Robert Roberts. In suit they admitted the $74 holdup. No charges have been filed.

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—As policemen gathered for a meeting of their benefit association at Police headquarters in this western New York community, a small jar crashed through the window. Inside was a note saying: "Dear sir, your window is broken."

They quickly caught the thrower, William Souler, 16, who explained: "There isn't much for a kid to do in this town, so I thought I would have a little excitement."

He was charged with malicious mischief.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For 15 months Vencil Gene Hawkins had been getting traffic tickets—and ignoring them.
In court Wednesday police produced 35 citations. They included running stop signs, illegal lane changes, speeding and nine for driving with a revoked driver's license.
Municipal Judge Joseph Marchetti convicted Hawkins, 26, on each count and sentenced him to 1,455 days in city jail.
"Why—they don't get that much for manslaughter," Hawkins protested outside court. "And murder is only seven years."
He plans to appeal.

Like to Cut Out Airport Custom

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is going to cut down on his custom of meeting presidents and kings at the airport when they come to Washington on state visits.
Half the year, he will greet them at the airport; half the year, he won't.

Diplomatic officials said the reason for the change is that Eisenhower was deeply disappointed when bad weather spoiled the reception of President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina last month. Only a very few people braved the cold and wet to see and applaud Eisenhower and Frondizi as they drove from the airport to the White House.

Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Harker sent notes to 86 diplomatic missions notifying them of the change.

"Twining to the possibility of inclement weather in Washington between Oct. 1 and April 30 of each year, the President will not receive heads of state at the airport during those months," the note read.
The new practice will become effective next Oct. 1.

"After what you been through today is no time for you to be alone. Burke and me, we took care of things around here. Sort of cleaned up for you. So now you come along, Lauries orders, if you must know."

Laurie! Laurie! the lovely, the gentle one — of the gay, head-tossing little laugh — abruptly Yeager was eager.

When he and Cam Reeves splashed through the little ditch ford at the end of the lane and started across the interval toward the ranchhouse, it was as if she had heard them. For the door opened and she stood there, slender and lightly poised against the lamp, glow beyond. And when he stepped from his saddle she came to the edge of the porch to meet him.

"Maybe I've no right to face you, Laurie," he said. "For I've been a long way down into the depths. I've wallowed around in a lot of hate and there's the blood of dead men on me."
On lips she stood, reaching to put soft finger tips against his lips.
"Hush!" she said gently. "All that matters is that you are here."

Puerto-Ricans Object of Big City Hatred

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE
SAN JUAN, P. R. — The Puerto Ricans, as the most recent minority group in New York and other cold-warred U.S. cities, have incurred the fury of the people who have hated an involution.

It is said that these hate-people should be conveyed in a large, irregular body, to the island. The friendliness, the diligence, the industry and the hospitality of these people would either kill or cure their nations. It might even thrust some gentleness, tolerance and kindness into those incipient Ku Klux Klan types who write anti-everything letters to columnists.

These people, on their own tight little Shangri-La, treat the U.S. tourist to more genuine smiles and eager service than anywhere else I've observed in the world. Unlike the other Caribbean islands, not to mention many European countries, where the hand is held out and the smiles are held back, the Puerto Ricans are sincere and friendly.

The intolerance and resentment of the "great white class" of stateside visitors, observed in most other tropical islands, is missing here. The "mambo" or never-do-beat-swing-music-out-of-by-tomorrow attitude is prevalent wherever there is a palm tree south of Florida — except on Puerto Rico.

"We work fast. We don't even look at the clock," said Jose Algeria, who has two furniture stores, a decorating business, real estate and the fancy la rade hotel. "In fact, we don't like to employ Puerto-Ricans who have been in New York — they get bad habits."

Like laziness on the job, and looking for something for nothing. "Algeria pointed out that since 'Operation Bootstrap' — Puerto Rico's self-help development program — began in 1950, the only beneficiaries we have are misfits or opportunists from the states who come down here to make the million. He chuckled with deep contentment. "Speculators who only want to make the million have often lost the million. Puerto Rico does not want rich-Americans who just speculate, or just lie in the sun and drink."

San Juan itself is a metropolis with Bougainvillea-hung traffic lights at the busiest intersections.

It has its luxury hotels (which cannot accommodate the bulging winter resort business, so more are being planned by the dozen.) It has honestly-run, government-protected gambling casinos, and a new race track called "El Comandante" which, besides running three times a week all year round, also conducts the island lottery and keeps it clean and pure with four Univac machines.

It has rain forests magnificently mounted above and behind the city, covered with jungles in which orchids are a penny a dozen, and it has the whitest sand beaches a lover could hope to write letters on.

History and culture and picturesque quaintness still are more abundant here than big business — and the local government is hustling faster to preserve these values than to make money.

But the real treasure of Puerto Rico is her people.

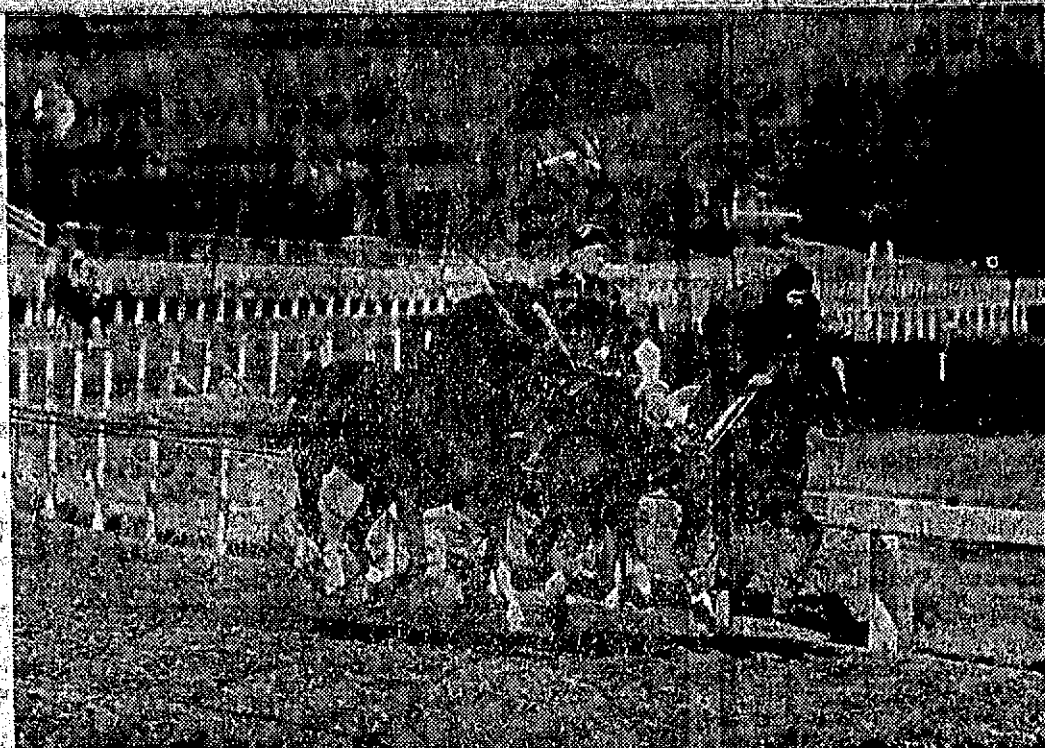

Even in the little mountain towns, where people live in neat huts overgrown with flowers, they greet the U.S. tourist with hand-waving and enthusiasm. When they have relatives who have gone to seek a living in New York, they feel sympathy for them, because reports have come back that it isn't easy to get along with the people and conditions up North.

But they don't hold you responsible for it. Quite the reverse.

They welcome their stateside visitors with generous smiles, even as they would like to be welcomed and almost as if we deserved it.

Austria has 132 schools where special care is provided for handicapped children.

TRAINING BEGINS AT OAKLAWN

HOT SPRINGS — A trio of Oaklawn Park residents get an early morning workout in preparation for the beginning of schooling for two-year-olds tomorrow. Fay's Ace, four-year-old bay with Walter Paquette up, accompanies a young horse on a turn around the track. Handler Cloyd Baltimore and his stable pony handle ponying duties for the two-year-old. The 1959 Spring meet gets underway, February 21 and ends March 28.

Ham, Turkey Good Buys for Weekend

FOOD REVIEW
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chances are you'll be eating smoked ham or turkey Sunday if the food shopper in your house goes for the current bargains.

Supplies of both meats are plentiful.

Ham isn't the only pork product featured. Some stores are putting on special prices for bacon and pork chops are down cents and more a pound in some areas.

Beef prices are mixed while veal and leg of lamb are up a few pennies in scattered locations.

Potatoes remain the outstanding vegetable bargain in most stores.

Other best bets include fall cabbage, root crops, sweet potatoes, endive and asparagus. The first North Carolina cooking greens are in the markets at bargain levels.

Lettuce, carrots, pascal celery, new cabbage, onions and spinach also are good buys. Egg plant, snap beans and peppers are more expensive.

Once again apples and Florida citrus rank as the top bargains on fruit counters. Apple prices firmed this week, however, as storage crops started to grow rapidly, and supplies of tangerines also are growing light. Bananas, limes, California navel oranges, Puerto Rican coconuts, lemons and avocados also are good buys.

About one-third of the present world population — nearly one billion people — live within the Communist orbit.

GILDING THE LILY — Gambling on creating quite a sensation in Rome, Rosanna Galli goes out on an artistic limb to have faces painted on her legs for carnival-time fun. Rosanna was Miss Italy of 1957.

Adobe, a natural clay, has been used for building in New Mexico since prehistoric times.

Another Cuban Officer Shot

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP) — Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco died before a firing squad today, calmly giving the order to fire.

Convicted a second time as a major war criminal, the 51-year-old career officer had one last request — that he be given the right to give the orders to his executioners.

Army sources gave this account of the major's execution in the early morning hours at La Cabaña Fortress.

Sosa Blanco was led from his cell into the courtyard where the firing squad waited.

"I forgive you, muchachos (boys), and you will forgive me," he said, then calmly: "Get ready. Aim. Fire!"

News Briefs

BERGEN, Norway (AP) — A Soviet ship, the Nowajassibir, ran aground on a rocky stretch of the Norwegian coast early today.

An 18-person aboard were rescued by the Scottish freighter Soutra as near gale winds and heavy seas pounded the stranded ship.

WARSAW (AP) — The U. S. Embassy is besieged by Poles who've heard a false rumor that the United States has lifted all restrictions on immigration.

Speculators who want to buy up choice land from would-be emigrants at bargain prices are blamed for planting the story. One version has the United States offering to pay fares and grant land to immigrants willing to settle in Alaska.

Thinking Back What Would You Do If You Had Another Chance Makes Conversation

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A popular parlor game today is, "If you had to do it all over again, what would you do differently?"

A hostess who poses this question at a party of middle-aged guests never has to worry about conversation the rest of the evening. Her only problem is to keep her rug from being flooded with the tears of what might have been.

We were asked at a recent party how we would like to relive our life, and we remained silent, because our first impulse was to throw up.

Since then, however, we have been brooding over the question, and have decided a second ride on the merry-go-round might be worthwhile—if we could arrange certain changes.

We would choose to be born dumber and richer. We are somewhat weary of having an IQ higher than our bank account. Common sense is the curse of the poor and sensible. Next time we'd like to be wealthy and insensible.

We would start wearing bigger shoes and looser collars earlier in life. Most of our mistakes in judgment came from a cramped mind—the result of wearing shoes half a size too short and a shirt collar half a size too tight.

We would go into business for ourselves instead of working for others. A series of sharp quick bankruptcies is better than life long serfdom.

We would marry at 17. A man who waits until 27 to marry does not have enough time left to repent.

We would have more children—oodles of them. It is more comfortable to be old than young, and nothing ages you faster than children.

We would learn to ride a horse. In our set—the subway set—a man who can ride a horse stands out like a pimple on the face of the Mona Lisa.

We would fall in love only with red-haired women. In this life we have fallen in love only with blondes and brunettes, and feel vaguely cheated. We've never heard of a man who ran away from a red-haired woman.

We're going to see more of the world. Travel is slendering. It's the guy who sits at home in front of his television set year after year who gets broader.

We're going to spend our money as fast as we make it. We have found in this life that the more money we had in the bank the more scared we were that some communitarian or tax collector would come along and take it away from us, and we are tired of being a coward.

Oh, we're going to dance all day, and sing all night by the light of the moon. We're going to taste every food, try every wine, climb every balcony possible until our arteries harden.

Then we're going to lie down and die, cheerful and happy, and leave our brain to Harvard. There may not be much of it left, but whatever there is Harvard can have it!

SELF-STARTER

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—With an old alarm clock, Dana Gibson has licked the chilling task of starting his automobile on cold winter days. The clock mechanism is connected with the car's starter. Gibson sets the clock when he gets home at night, goes out the next morning to a warm, pre-started automobile.

STREAMLINED—Pigs usually end up shaped like sausages but these two jumped the gun. Only six months old, the Welsh gills, or sows, won a prize in a London livestock show for their "fine length and exceptionally good hams."

Tax Credits for Oil & Operators Allowed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today signed into law a measure permitting severance tax credit to oil well operators who install salt water disposal systems.

The measure was authored by Union Rep. Chadd Durrett.

Oil operators had sought the legislation. The state Water Pollution Commission recently warned south Arkansas operators to put in such disposal systems because salt water waste from some wells was polluting the Ouachita River and its tributaries.

The operators contended they could not pay the severance tax and finance installation of disposal equipment. The disposal systems are designed to inject salt water into ground strata away from rivers and streams.

Oklahoma has 27 Indian reservations.
